

Event Partnership
Opportunities
for Non-Profit Organizations

Calling all Water, Energy and Agriculture Non-Profit Organizations...

Are your members beginning to ask questions such as...

"Have we considered whether or not there will be sufficient amounts of water and/or energy in the future for the interests we serve?", and

"How does our organization begin to deal with the issues surrounding the competing demands for water (good quality and sustainable supply) from energy, industrial, municipal, and agricultural sectors?"

In 2009, the Ground Water Protection Council (GWPC) held a Water Energy Sustainability Symposium, Water & Energy Policy in the 21st Century in Salt Lake City, UT which began the dialogue to identify and address many water/energy sustainability issues. In 2010, the 2nd water/energy focused symposium, Water and Energy in Changing Climates was held. If you participated in either event, you know that a large number of concerns were raised regarding these complex subject areas. To view the proceedings from the past events, please visit: www.gwpc.org/meetings/proceedings.htm.

At these two symposia, 26 and 25 (respectively) national and regional non-profit organizations, with water and/or energy protection and conservation as a component of their mission, joined GWPC, USEPA, and USDOE to become Event Partners for these high profile conference. Attendance was just over 300 and 400 respectively.

As we plan for the 2011 Annual Forum, Meeting Competing Demands with Finite Groundwater Resources, we hope to continue the water/energy sustainability dialog and add many more proven and innovative solutions to complex water/energy issues. NEW for this year, we will address MORE topics regarding competing demands for groundwater resources, including urban and agriculture, as well as other groundwater sustainability subjects AND groundwater quality impacts and protection strategies. Once again, the GWPC conference planning committee is inviting like minded organizations to join forces for this event by offering event partnership opportunities.

Consider becoming an Event Partner for the 2011 Annual Forum, to be held September 24-28 in Atlanta, GA. By joining this effort, you will be part of the dialogue addressing concerns over finite groundwater resources and represent your membership's views in an interactive, multi-stakeholder venue.

---

Event sponsored by:

Partially funded by both:

Event Partner Agreement Form for Non-Profit Organizations

Eligible partner organizations include:

National or regional non-profit organizations with water, energy, and/or agriculture sustainability related missions.

Partner organizations will receive:

- Logo and web address on the conference web pages and in the conference handbook.
- Complimentary registration(s) based on level of support.
- Discount or complementary exhibit space based on level of support.

Various partnership opportunities:

Support levels	Logo and web address on promotional material & proceedings	Complimentary registrations	Exhibit space
*$500	YES	1	-
*$1,500	YES	1	50% (or $500)
*$2,500	YES	2	Complimentary

If you agree to become a 2011 Annual Forum Partner, please return completed form...

Select Support Level:     *500         *1,500         *2,500

Name of Organization: _____

Authorizing Official: _____

Signature: _____ Date _____

Title: _____

Mailing Address: _____

Phone: _____

E-mail _____

Designee(s) to receive complementary registration: _____

~ Send completed form (and your logo) to Ben Grunewald at ben@gwpc.org - 405 516 4972 ~

Thank you for caring about Groundwater!

2011 Ground Water Protection Council Annual Forum

Groundwater
Availability & Sustainability

Groundwater / Energy
Sustainability

Groundwater
Quality

Meeting Competing Demands with Finite GROUNDWATER Resources